READING

A Father's Legacy

Your laughter echoes in my dreams,
In every sunrise, your spirit gleams.
Your legacy, Dad, I'll proudly bear;
In every challenge, I'll know you're there.
Though tears may fall and hearts may ache,
Your love, dear father, no end can break.
For in the tapestry of my life, you've woven in
A father's love, a daughter's eternal kin.

POEM

Death is nothing at all.
I have only slipped away to the next room.
I am I and you are you.
Whatever we were to each other, that we are still.

Call me by my old familiar name,
Speak it to me in the same way you always used;
Put no difference into your tone,
Wear no forced air of solemnity or sorrow.

Laugh as we always laughed at the little jokes we enjoyed together.

Play, smile, think of me.

Let my name be ever the household word that it always was;
Let it be spoken without effort, without the ghost of a shadow on it.

Life means all that it ever meant.
It is the same as it ever was.
There is absolute unbroken continuity.
Why should I be out of mind because I am out of sight?

I am but waiting for you, for an interval,
Somewhere very near,
Just around the corner.
All is well.

Canon Henry Scott Holland (1847-1918)
