Introduction and Welcoming Words

Poem

Equal Opportunities
written by Gary Beadle

Black, white, or even if your name is Bob,
If he is qualified, give him a job.
Short, fat, thin or tall,
If he can play, give him a ball.

Lesbian, bi or gay,
So they do things a different way.
Handicapped, rich or poor,
No need to close the door.

English, German, Chinese or French,
Let him sit on the bench.
Man, woman, young or old,
Give them a coat if they are cold.

Catholic, Hindu, Protestant or Jew,
I have no reason to hate you.
With lots of love, understanding and giving,
We all have the same goal, and that is living.

If everybody was perfect and liked the same thing,
Wouldn't life be boring?
So don't worry about what you are not,
Just be thankful and do the best with what you got.

With a little give and take,
Everybody can live happy in the same cake,
So don't separate and label,
Sit them all around the same table.
