Committal

Closing Words and Poem

Afterglow

I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one.
I'd like to leave an afterglow of smiles when life is done.
I'd like to leave an echo whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times, and laughing times, and bright and sunny days.
I'd like tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun
Of happy memories that I leave, when life is done.

Recessional Music

'Dueling Banjos'
from Deliverance

Warning

When I am an old woman, I shall wear purple.
With a red hat which doesn't go, and doesn't suit me.
I will zoom around town on my mobility scooter
and spend my pension on chocolate and biscuits.
And paint my nails and dye my hair.
I shall sit down on the pavement when I'm tired.
And gobble up samples in shops and press alarm bells.
And run my stick along the public railings
And make up for the sobriety of my youth.
I shall go out in my slippers in the rain,
and pick flowers in other people's gardens.
You can wear terrible shirts and grow more fat,
and eat Wotsits in bed late at night
and have doughnuts for breakfast,
or only bread and pickle for a week.
And hoard pens and pencils and beer mats and things in boxes.
But now we must have clothes that keep us dry,
and pay our rent and not swear in the street.
And set a good example for the children.
We must have friends to dinner and read the papers.
But maybe I ought to practice a little now?
So people who know me are not too shocked and surprised,
when suddenly I am old, and start to wear purple.
