OPENING WORDS

POEM

Because I Love You So
from Trevor

Time will not dim the face I love,
The voice I heard each day,
The many things you did for me
In your special way.

All my life I'll miss you,
As the years come and go,
But in my heart I'll keep you
Because I love you so.

A bouquet of vibrant red roses with green leaves is positioned on the right side of the page, resting on a light-colored wooden surface. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The background is a soft, out-of-focus white, which makes the roses stand out.

POEM
from Adam

Mum, your chair in the kitchen is bare,
No Lambrini in your hand, no laughter in the air.

But I still see you, clear as day,
Sipping, smiling, watching us your way.

You loved the quiet, simple things,
The joy that ordinary life can bring.
A glass in hand, the kids in view -
Mason and Maddison adored you.

You never needed grand or gold,
Just love and laughter to unfold.
You found your heaven in our home,
And now we feel so much alone.

But Mum, your warmth still lingers here,
In every giggle that we hear.
We'll sip and smile and speak your name,
And know life never is the same.
