Opening Words

Poem

You Were Our Brother
from Chris's siblings

You were our brother, our steady hand,
A constant light we'd come to understand.
Through laughter loud and quiet days,
You shaped our world in countless ways.

We shared a bond both fierce and true,
A lifetime's thread that only grew.
Through every storm, through every fall,
You stood beside us through it all.

You had a heart of purest gold,
The kind that gave, so we are told.
You'd do anything for anyone in need,
A selfless soul in word and deed.

So many loved you, more than words can say,
A joy to know, a pleasure every day.
Your jokes and banter, full of light,
Will echo in our hearts so bright.

A person wearing a white cap and a light-colored jacket is fishing on a boat. They are holding a fishing rod and a net. The background is a body of water with a hazy, yellowish tint.

You loved your cars, the roar, the drive,
The way they made your spirit come alive.
In every engine's hum and sound,
A piece of you will still be found.

And though you've gone where we can't see,
Your voice still echoes endlessly.
In memories warm, in stories told,
In every moment we still hold.

We'll miss your laugh, your strength, your care,
The simple comfort of you there.
But love like ours won't fade away -
It lives in us, it's here to stay.

So rest now, brother, free from pain,
Your love remains, it will remain.

All our love. Gavin, Kimberley, Kirsty and Lewis x

Poem

At Rest

Think of me as one at rest,
For me you should not weep.
I have no pain, no troubled thoughts,
For I am just asleep.
The living, thinking me that was
Is now forever still,
And life goes on without me now,
As time forever will.

If your heart is heavy now
Because I've gone away,
Dwell not long upon it, friend,
For none of us can stay.
Those of you who liked me,
I sincerely thank you all,
And those of you who loved me,
I thank you most of all.

And in my fleeting lifespan,
As time went rushing by,
I found some time to hesitate,
To laugh, to love, to cry.
Matters it now if time began,
If time will ever cease?
I was here, I used it all,
And now I am at peace.
