After Their Death

You might be covered By eyelids closed Over your whole being, Or reach with desperation For something alive To hold onto. Your fingertips will hide In a fist. No more palms Open to life. Humbled, the very ground Will seem so large. Someday The earth will own you. Or you see there's no time To waste, and plow Into previously feared goals. Try to be patient If it takes you years To return. This is the exit from Eden, When you have chosen life While wanting to die. This is the fall that gives Wisdom, perspective, gratefulness. It is worth the crawl, back to life.

by Judith Pordon

